

PRIVACY POLICY

We, the Forum for Presidential Democracy are a political party devoted to the cause of spreading the concept of a truly democratic presidential system for the country with check and balances.

We are committed to respecting your rights and obeying the governing law in India. This privacy policy is developed and published under inter-alia, the Information Technology Act, 2000, and the rules made thereunder. By using this website, you consent to collecting, using, sharing, and disclosing your information. We reserve our right to modify or update our Policy at any time, from time to time, and your continued access to, or use of the website, will be deemed to be an acceptance of the said modifications.

Personal information that may be collected

This policy does not govern collection and processing of information by us in the course of provision of our services, or otherwise by virtue of entering into any engagement or other contractual obligations. We generally do not collect any sensitive personal data viz. passwords, financial information, physical, mental, and physiological information, sexual orientation, medical records and history, and biometric information unless such information is legally required under our objectives, in which case the terms of each individual contract and not this policy will govern the collection and processing of such data.

We may collect some information when you visit our website. You hereby accept and consent to the collection, use, storage, processing and sharing or disclosure of your information per the applicable laws.

Any information that is freely available or accessible and is in the public domain or furnished under any law in force shall not be governed by this policy and will not be treated as sensitive personal information.

Usage of information

We may use the information collected or provided by you for operating, enhancing, improving and developing our services on the website, providing legal updates, newsletters and other information, performance and compliance with legal obligations.

Sharing of information

Unless required by law, we shall not disclose, give or distribute any personal information to third parties save and except for the abovementioned purposes or if you have consented to us sharing your personal information to third parties or where we are under a legal obligation to do so to comply with applicable laws and to service providers who are engaged by us for processing your personal information.

Protection of information

We are committed to protecting your personal information and will maintain appropriate security measures to ensure protection of your personal information against loss, misuse, damage, alteration, destruction and disclosure.

Disclaimer

As an user of the website, you assume all responsibility and risk for using the website, the internet, the information you post and access and also for your conduct on and off the website. We shall not in any way be responsible for any unauthorized use, collection, processing or access to your personal information or breaches of security beyond our firm's reasonable control. We shall also not be responsible for any liability arising in connection with the disclosure made by you to third parties to whom you have disclosed your personal information, whether by you accessing third-party webpages or websites through our website or in any other manner.

Period

We shall not store personal data any longer than necessary to achieve the purpose of this policy or to comply with the prevailing laws and regulations.

Your rights

You may be entitled to legal rights about your personal information to:

- Request details or removal of the data concerning you and to have it rectified or corrected if it is inaccurate or incomplete.

- to withdraw your consent and request restrictions to process your data

Contact information

If you desire to exercise the abovementioned rights at any time, you may contact us

Email: info@presidentialdemocracy.org

Address:

Forum for Presidential Democracy

B-145, Mittal Towers, Nariman Point, Mumbai 400 021